

who she's become today.

e're pleased to announce a new addition to the Tessera on Lake Travis newsletter! Every few months there will be a feature "Where are they now?" piece, highlighting a former Lago Vista ISD student and their career aspirations. This first profile spotlights Savannah Powers, a 2016 graduate of Lago Vista HS. Powers, now 18, has lived in Lago Vista since she was six months old. Her parents are Tommy and Kendra, and she has two brothers, Tommy Jr. and Layne.

Powers attended Lago Vista ISD from elementary through high school, where she played softball all four years. She also competed in powerlifting her final two years of high school and made it to State Championships both years, finishing fifth and then third. In addition to her athletic endeavors, Powers served as yearbook photographer for her junior and senior years. That may have helped spur an interest that has led to a career profession.

"I first became interested in photography when I saw how much joy it brought people to freeze a moment in time forever for them," she said. "The happiness on a friend's face when they saw pictures of themselves that they were really pleased with made me strive to become better and better at photography." Powers plans to attend Austin Community College for two years before transferring to another university, still to be decided. She's researching all of her options, and has expressed interest in Texas State University. In the meantime, her time is spent on photography, where she enjoys shooting weddings, sporting events and senior portraits. She also stages family and children's shoots, often using nature as her backdrop until she has her own studio to work in.

She has fond memories of growing up in Lago Vista and the impact it had on "My favorite thing about Lago Vista is how close everybody is to one another," she said. "Growing up here, everything was smaller. Now the town is bigger but the community has stayed close knit. Everybody knows everybody, and no matter what happens you know the community will be behind you."
